

The AMA History Project Presents: Biography of RON PITCOCK

Reformatted by JS (03/2016)

The following information about 2015 AMA Foundation Board Member Ron Pitcock was published on the AMA Foundation website.

Ron Pitcock, AMA Foundation Board Member

Ron Pitcock has been a technology entrepreneur for over 40 years. He serves as an advisor for Leptron Industrial Robotic Helicopters and is also the owner/operator of a HobbyTown franchise in Texas. He was co-founder and President of High Speed Access Corp. (HSAC), a company designed to provide high-speed Internet access via cable modem to residential and commercial customers in exurban areas. In 1999, Ron was recognized as a top 100-cable executive and is a Cable TV Pioneer. He has an AA degree, a BBA degree, an MTel degree, and is a doctoral candidate for a DBA in Business.

Aside from the AMA Foundation, Ron serves as a board member for Adaptive Spirits which supports the USA Paralympic Ski and Snowboard teams, and Hunting for Purpose. Ron is a life member of the AMA and is active in flying clubs in Colorado and Texas. He was an OV-1 Mohawk pilot in Vietnam and still holds a commercial, multiengine airplane license and is instrument rated.
