

1936 - 1939

According to the official souvenir publication for the 1986 Nats, Frank Zaic was the designer of the original logo (below). The torch symbolizes knowledge and the wings symbolize flight:

This emblem, reduced to about half the size shown, will be the basis for a pin to be worn by Academy members. These will not be available for distribution immediately but, as soon as received, will be sent to all members.

The below NAA logo was used by NAA and sometimes AMA. Between 1937 and 1939, the AMA logo used was unknown. It possibly could have been the same as the 1936 logo, but we cannot be sure either way with evidence we have:

1940 - 1949

The AMA incorporated the NAA logo in early renderings of the AMA tag, since it was a part of the NAA (through October of 1966)

These two logos were utilized at least by 1992, and maybe even earlier. Notice a slight variation on the font in “since 1936” from the early 1990s logo. This logo lasted through 2008:
