The 2016 Control Line Combat Nationals opened Saturday, July 16, with F2D Combat. Twenty six very good pilots started a triple elimination contest, facing more than 75 matches. Due to the good organization of the flightline, pioneered by Bob Mears and Arlene Pyles, they packed in more than 50 matches in less than 11 hours.

With as many spectators as there were pilots, the crowd of pit crews, pilots, and judges, saw lots of hard-fought matches packed with everything from tiny Figure Eights at 90 mph to low-level inverted running, and yes, of course, line tangles, airplanes banging into each other, midair crashes, many cuts, but only one set of broken lines.

The barn burner match of the day, the very first one, featured James McKinney and Allen DeVeuve. Allen managed seven cuts to four in one 60-second flurry right at the beginning. James got four cuts in four minutes, while Allen was on the ground for over half of the match, giving his pit crew a workout. The final score was 830 to 780—less than a single cut. It was probably the highest-scoring F2D match ever.

Dave Edwards acted as event director and a cut judge, and Chris Gay once again got sunburned running the matches as circle marshal. Tom Reubenking, Bob Nelson, and Mal Fawley counted more than 175 cuts.

The flying finished just before 7:30 p.m. with a match between Chuck Rudner and Mike Evans. 🛩️
